Where is he?

Shokkin Group International

SHOKKIN!

In case you are stuck at any point of the game,

follow this link* to find our hint system.

(*Right click, open in a new tab)

LET THE GAME BEGIN!

You are the lead of the digital task force in a detective agency. The whole team is well known for finding whatever is needed using only logic, witts and a few simple digital tools.

On a usual day you receive a forwarded message...

From [redacted]

To [redacted]

Dear detective agency,

We are writing to you because it is a very serious matter and only you can help us. We cannot contact the police or any authorities because they might be involved too… We collectively believe that he was kidnapped. Only this can explain his sudden disappearance from our online meetings and discussion forums for several days. He was our leader and he was making great progress in discovering who stands behind it all. But at the agreed time he didn't show up to our meeting… This has never happened before. He promised to share with us all the answers. This can only mean that something bad happened to him and there is very little time… Even though he is great at cleaning up all his traces, they must have found him. The only thing that we managed to discover is the Gmail of his "twin brother" as they called each other... Maybe you should contact him to find Saturnus.
You are our only hope. We beg you to find out where he is...

Those who care…

_ _ _ _ _ _4137@gmail.com